Introduction

In line with the mandate of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Regional Integration as enshrined in article 40 of the 1992 constitution, the Ministry has continued to promote and protect the interest of Ghana in its bilateral and multilateral relations with the wider international community.

In pursuance therefore, of Government's agenda for Structural Transformation of our economy, the Ministry continues to leverage the tools of economic diplomacy through its Missions abroad to actively promote Ghanaian goods and services as well as attract Foreign Direct Investments (FDIs) for the much needed foreign exchange and job creation.

The Ministry in an effort to re-position itself to effectively achieve Ghana's Foreign Policy objectives and to support the Government's Economic Transformation Agenda, re-established the Economic, Trade and Investment Bureau (ECTIB) to play a central role in coordinating and facilitating Economic, Trade, Investment and Tourism activities between our Missions/International community and the relevant stakeholders in Ghana.

Accordingly, the Ministry, in collaboration with the Ministry of Trade and Industry, and other stakeholders launched the maiden edition, of its Bazaar Extravaganza, from Friday, 23rd to Saturday, 24th March, 2018, under the theme: "BREAKING NEW FRONTIERS IN ECONOMIC DIPLOMACY".

Hon. Shirley Ayorkor Botchwey (MP)
Minister for Foreign Affairs and Regional Integration

KEYNOTE ADDRESS FOR OPENING OF BAZAAR EXTRAVAGANZA, FRIDAY, 23RD MARCH, 2018

Hon. Minister for Trade and Industry, Alan Kyerematen,
Hon. Deputy Minister, Mohammad Tijani Habibu,
Hon. Members of Parliament,
Members of the Diplomatic Corps,
Representatives of Ministries, Departments and Agencies,
Directors and other Staff of the Ministry,
Distinguished Exhibitors and Captains of Industry,
Members of the Press,
Ladies and Gentlemen,

It is a great pleasure to welcome you to this auspicious occasion marking the official opening of the first-ever Made-in-Ghana Bazaar Extravaganza, organised by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Regional Integration. I wish to express my deepest gratitude to you all for accepting to officially grace this occasion and for being a part of this momentous event in the annals of the Ministry.

Excellencies, Ladies and Gentlemen,

As you are aware, the President of the Republic, Nana Addo Dankwa Akufo-Addo, since assumption of office, has pursued an agenda of industrial and economic transformation, based on strong private sector participation and anchored on sound economic fundamentals. In a bid to ensure that this transformative agenda is actualised, the Ministry has redefined its role, and repositioned itself as a key player in the pursuit of the structural economic transformation of the country.

For this reason, our economic diplomacy agenda has been refocused to raise the prominence of Ghana's economic interests in our international engagements. As a Ministry, we have redirected the focus of our diplomacy to the search for economic opportunities for the private sector in our foreign policy. This is geared towards opening markets abroad for Ghanaian goods and services, while attracting foreign direct investments into the Ghanaian economy.

It is, therefore, not a mere matter of course that we are holding this Bazaar under the theme; "Made-in-Ghana Bazaar: Breaking New Frontiers in Economic Diplomacy". The Bazaar is also in line with the Ministry's overall vision of realigning its objectives with the Government's "Coordinated Programme of Economic and Social Development Policies" (2017-2024), to achieve its economic transformative agenda. The key priority areas include, diversifying the economy to reduce excessive dependence on commodity exports; making Ghana a favoured destination for business; expanding markets for intra-regional trade and economic cooperation; linking Ghanaian business people with foreign counterparts in strategic alliances and partnerships; and reopening of markets for Ghanaian goods and services.

In as much as today's event is linked to our current national agenda, it also ties in with the wider continental agenda on trade and industrial development. Indeed, you will recall that, only two days ago, the African Union Continental Free Trade Area Agreement was signed in Kigali, Rwanda, by forty-four (44) African States. This historic agreement is expected to unlock huge opportunities for trade and industrial development, as well as help African countries take advantage of the economies of scale to better compete on the global market.

In recognition of the need to prepare to readjust and take advantage of the huge market potential, the Government is signalling through this event today that, we are ready to partner the private sector to facilitate and promote Made-In-Ghana products at the continental level.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

In a time when the world market is putting premium on finished goods, we have no reason to only supply raw materials. We have no reason to be at the bottom of the global supply chain. More importantly, we have no reason to import that which we are capable of manufacturing locally.

Osagyefo Dr. Kwame Nkrumah also once said, "Every time we import goods that we could manufacture if all conditions were available, we are continuing our economic dependence and delaying our industrial growth". By buying local goods made from locally sourced raw materials, we invest in "building up our body of knowledge, techniques, and skills to make us more self confident and self sufficient to push towards economic independence, job creation and employment".

This Bazaar will also increase awareness among the public on the need to patronise 'Made-In-Ghana' goods and services, and to improve the production, processing and distribution value chain of products in terms of raw materials availability and adequacy of operational materials. In this regard, it will enable the exhibitors to promote their products, as well as sensitise the public about the diverse investment opportunities available in Ghana.

During this two (2) day event, exhibitors will showcase a wide range of innovative products, exclusively made in Ghana. Our expectation is that this two-day event will provide the most efficient and cost effective one-stop platform for buyers and suppliers to establish contact, consolidate relationships with existing customers, exchange experiences and explore business opportunities. It is also our expectation that, through this Bazaar, new products and services will be identified; exhibitors will gain new competitive insights; as well as conduct market research of their new products.

Distinguished Ladies and Gentlemen,

This Bazaar is unique in the sense that the Diplomatic Community will be participating. We will, therefore, witness some Missions showcase the cultural and culinary diversity of their respective countries.

Overall, there are about one hundred and thirty (130) exhibitors, spanning various sectors including Agriculture and Agro-processing, Cosmetics, Wood and Wood products, Food and Beverages, and Textile and Garments. For a maiden event, the participation and interest shown is very commendable. We hope that it will continue to grow in subsequent exhibitions and make the Bazaar Extravaganza, one of the flagship events of the Ministry.

Excellencies, Ladies and Gentlemen,

I will now like to express my gratitude to our numerous stakeholders for their active support and the significant roles they played, culminating in the event today. To our partner Ministry, the Ministry of Trade and Industry; and other stakeholders including the Ghana Export Promotion Authority; Ghana Investment Promotion Centre; Ghana National Chamber of Commerce and Industry; Ghana Tourism Authority; Ghana Standards Authority; Federation of Association of Ghanaian Exporters, Musicians Union of Ghana; Association of Ghana Industries; Citi FM; and Ghana Free Zones Authority.

Before I end my speech I would like to thank our sponsors, Ghana Export Promotion Authority, Ghana National Petroleum Corporation, Ghana Oil Company (GOIL), Ghana Free Zones Authority, Citi FM, Stanbic Bank and the Ghana Investment Promotion Centre, for it is also due to them that this event has been made possible. I would also like to say a big thank you to Yoofi Brew Studios for graciously producing the jingle for the Bazaar; Kleos Bolte Communication for the free 4G+ wifi services; as well as the Diplomatic Community, the vendors, and Ministries, Departments and Agencies. Without your support and active participation we would not have been able to organise this bazaar.

With that, it is my honour and a great pleasure to welcome you to the maiden Bazaar Extravaganza of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Regional Integration. Let's go celebrate Made-in-Ghana.

Ladies and Gentlemen, Let's go shopping.
Thank You.

Hon. Alan Kyerematen
Minister for Trade and Industry

Experience: I am a Food Scientist with over 10 years of work experience in the food and Beverages Industry. I have worked with both dry and wet foods and am well vexed in Quality assurance, being the head of Quality in some of the different companies I have worked with. I also have other varied experiences, some of which are Research and development and regulatory.

Why Welmountt: My years of working in the food industry together with my background in food science, has taught me that, the formulation of one's product for the people, can either reduce or increase their life span. Most consumers never realize this till years down the line when their health begins to fail them. Most owners of companies think about their profit at the expense of the wellbeing of people. A lot more do not even have the knowledge about what they are producing, but own companies based on the fact that they are financially sound. It is worthy of note however that, there are also challenges in providing healthy juices and foods (with respect to machinery, packaging and assess to raw materials). Thus, though we have fertile lands in Ghana, the absence of systems, and lapses in the monitoring of farming, makes it difficult to get raw materials. Therefore people opt for the cheaper options. However, no challenge is worth risking the lives of citizens and people.

Based on this, I decided to take courage and afford the Ghanaian, and people worldwide, the opportunity to a healthy life style. I want you to know that, healthy can still be tasty and refreshing, and therefore our recipes are made from the heart.

Description: Welmount Delis Enterprise is a Food, Beverages and Body Care Enterprise, with great specialty in fruit juices both in formulation and quality.

DOKU FARMS

DOKU FARMS started farming mango plantation since 2002. Four years after, the fruits started coming but the harvest was few. In 2008 -2010, the harvest was huge which exceeded market demand. Despite the bumper harvest, there was loss after the harvest. The post-harvest loss triggered Dan Doku to conduct research into safe means to manage the post-harvest losses. In an attempt to manage the post-harvest losses and also create employment for the youth and women, Doku Farms then thought of dehydrating the ripe fruits, before proceeding to seal them air tight. Some innovative measures Doku Farms used in an attempt to solve manage the problem included: the use of a Baker's oven (produced unsatisfactory results), and later a self-made wooden oven. Other dehydration methods were also used along the line. Currently, Doku Farms uses a safe domestic oven (which proved awesome) for dehydrating fruits. Other value added mango products from Doku Farms include: mango cakes and mango ice-creams (all natural without any sugar additives). Our ultimate goal is to create employment as while adding value to mango and other fruits to curb postharvest losses. Therefore we are working harder to enlarge from the domestic to large industrial level. Dan Beaders Handicraft, a subsidiary of Doku Farms also deals in crafts such as beads, candle holders and wind chimes.

Nature's goodness

Uplife Company Limited (www.uplifehoney.com) was incorporated in October 2011 after having identified an opportunity in the market for wholesome and affordable honey, conveniently packaged in innovative sachets for mass-market consumption.

Honey is a commodity product that is not being patronised because it is not sufficiently accessible, trusted or affordable. Uplife was set up to create good quality honey for everyone. The company is located in Teshie-Nungua Estates, a suburb of Accra and began production in 2012 after obtaining the necessary registrations and certification, both with the Ghana Standards Authority and the Food and Drugs Authority, as a quality food packager. Active sales began in September 2013 and the product has been enthusiastically received.

In Ghana the honey sector is underdeveloped. It is largely artisanal, informal and has very few recognised companies serving the market. Honey is perceived as a healthy alternative to sugar that is well received and widely liked although there is real concern about adulterated and sub-standard product in the market. Uplife has spent a great deal of effort in developing its products, systems and procedures and gaining extensive knowledge of the market dynamics in order to deliver on its objectives of a superior quality product available to all.

This includes creating the basis for a trusted and sustainable brand. 'Up! Honey' is the brand name. It is being developed to become a well-known, value-for-money, universal brand, which will improve consumer choice. Up! Honey is aimed at the low-income sector where significant volumes can be achieved.

Its innovative sachet format enables single use, low prices and enhances affordability. While low cost items are often of inferior quality, the use of single-use sachet packaging enables Uplife to provide the market with an innovative, cost effective and socially beneficial product. In Ghana, almost all sugar is imported. Only a minuscule market shift of a fraction of a percent, away from sugar, will create an enormous boost to honey. This increased consumption would create a sustainable business model benefiting numerous stakeholders, ranging from rural farmers, distributors, vendors and consumers.

The Up! Honey products have been universally well-received and this acceptance provides impetus to develop the brand, aggressively grow the product into a Fast-moving consumer good (FMCG) and ultimately build the company's ability to service the market.

The company has been steadily developing the product, streamlining the production process, sampling the market and building consumer awareness using various marketing methods including exhibiting at the 7th ECOWAS Trade Fair in Accra and the UN FAO Food Summit in Nairobi, both in 2013. The company will actively promote its strong Ghanaian heritage and products, adding to the growing stock of well-presented, high-quality Ghanaian brands.

The company seeks to endorse ongoing efforts to promote 'made in Ghana' products as a viable choice, both at home and abroad.
